Please notice that the weight of Edible 24K Gold or Edible Silver in the shape of Crumbs and Powder is the same in the jars below, but the volume is clearly different. I have attached images for you to compare the differences in volume. We have noticed that product of the same weight whether Silver or Gold show different volumes.

We a very accurate QC and all our product is weight on an Electronic Precision Balance.

Please safe these images under your technical info folder as customers may call you and ask questions about the volume for future customer orders:
